

In 1979 I was able to call the unbiased toss of a fair coin twenty-five consecutive times on the first attempt. I very recently discovered that an event as significant as this seems to be unprecedented.

I was in an office at the University of Nebraska Medical Center (UNMC) where I worked part-time as a janitor. It was the office just to the left of the blood bank cross-match unit. It was 7:10 PM in the evening.

I held a quarter between my finger tips and tossed it edge first directly upward to hit the ceiling. I had determined that tossing the coin this way would eliminate the possibility of subconsciously counting the number of flips. I closed my eyes before the toss, then called the toss, then opened my eyes and found the coin confirming the correct call of this toss. Upon twenty-five consecutive correct coin toss calls I stopped and got back to work cleaning the office.

At the time the Encyclopedia Britannica's article on ESP said that ESP was a scientifically established fact, based on the work by the famous Rhine research PhD husband and wife team.

Encyclopaedia Britannica
Macropaedia Knowledge in Depth
Copyright 1979
Volume 13, Parapsychological Phenomena, Theories of, page 1004

there is much experimental evidence, collected under sound and well-controlled conditions and properly analyzed statistically, which supports such a view, the answer must be that ESP certainly, and PK probably, does exist.

I had just finished reading the Rhine book immediately before the successful coin toss. Princeton Engineering Anomalies Research (PEAR) lab has been able to report similar findings. Both the Rhine research and the PEAR research have shown statistically significant results.

Because I had just finished reading the Rhine book and was convinced by the Encyclopedia Britannica's article, my confidence in success was great and my fear of failure was zero.

The way that I explained my coin toss success in 1979 is that when Christ said: "according to your faith be it unto you" he was referring to a hidden law of nature just like the "law of gravity" except that it is hidden. Over the years I was able to state Christ's words much more precisely and (at least) hundreds of replicated experimental results have confirmed the accuracy of these restated words:

When Christ said: "According to your faith be it unto you" this more precisely stated as: According to the specific degree of confidence held within the mind that the desired results will be achieved.

That this faith must be without doubt is more precisely stated as: The total absence of fear that the desired results will not be achieved.

These two are the key (combination lock) to unlocking the supernatural power of God.